DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

Group I, Claims 1-18 are drawn to a plurality of capacitive elements disposed on a substrate so that an axis that runs longitudinal through one of the plurality of capacitive memory elements is not generally parallel with an edge of the substrate; classified in class 257, subclass 396.

Group II, Claims 20-33 are drawn to an integrated device having a substrate and a memory device; classified in class 257, subclass 396.

Group III, Claims 34-46 are drawn to "an electronic device comprising a processor; a storage device; a user input device...etc"; classified in class 365, subclass 149.

Group IV, Claims 47-54 are drawn to a process for making an integrated circuit comprising the steps of "providing a substrate" and "disposing a plurality of capacitive elements... etc"; classified in class 438, subclass 268.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions III and (I and II) are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the patentability of the combination (Invention III) does not rely on the details of the subcombination (Inventions I and II). The subcombination has separate utility such as CD players, voice recorders, MP3 players, or digital cameras.

3. Inventions IV and (I, II and III) are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)).

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group (I and II) is not required for Group (III) or Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: If applicant is elected by the group IV (claims 47-54), the following election of species is required:

a. The species in claims 47-50 (a process for making an integrated circuit device).

b. The species in claims 51-54 (an integrated circuit device produced by the process).

8. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

9. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

10. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

11. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35

U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

12. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
